NORMS FOR PRESENTATION OF WORK

Scope and policy

- Revista Katálisis is dedicated to the publication of work about current and important issues in the realm of social work, related fields and those with common interdisciplinary interests. Each edition focuses on a single theme that is previously defined by the Editorial Commission, considering its importance in the contemporary social context, but reserves space for work about other issues, as long as they are related to social work.
- The papers submit for publication must have never been published, and they may not be presented simultaneously to another journal, including the text, tables and illustrations.
- Each issue of Revista Katálisis gives priority to the publication of articles based on applied and theoretical research with detailed description of methodology.
- All copyrights are reserved by Revista Katálisis. No portion of the publication may be reproduced, stored by any system or transmitted by any media or means existing, or that may come to be created, without the express written consent of the Editorial Board and with reference accredited to the authors and Revista Katálisis.
- The article presented must be accompanied by the Letter of Presentation, Declaration of Responsibility and term for the Transfer of Copyright, all properly signed (models below).

- Papers submitted for publication will be analyzed by peers, who are members of the Scientific Editorial Council, or ad hoc reviewers, who will determine whether the article will be accepted or not, and can suggest that the authors make changes or adaptations to comply with the journal's editorial norms. The final decision about the publication of papers received will be up to the Editorial Commission, based on the magazine's editorial policy. The analysis will consider the rigor, clarity and precision of scientific production, writing quality, the content and the ethical-theoretical probity. Any modifications to the structure and content will be agreed to with the authors. No additions or alterations to the text will be accepted after an article's final evaluation and acceptance. The Editorial Commission will assure authors' anonymity in the evaluation process, and assure evaluators that their participation will be classified, allowing freedom of judgment and evaluations.
- All work resulting from research or experiences that involve human subjects will have their publication conditioned on compliance with ethical principles, which should be clearly described in the final paragraph of the Methodology section of the article. It should indicate if the procedures respect the Helsinki Declaration (1964, revised in 2008). Studies by Brazilian authors should also indicate respect for Resolutions of the National Healthcare Council, n. 196, of 10/10/96 and n. 251, of 07/08/97, and present the permission for the study from the Ethics Committee of the institution of origin of the author(s) and if applicable, the term of Free and Informed Consent signed by those interviewed.
- Authors: for applied research, the names of the authors, just below the title of the article, limited to 4 (four); for theoretical research the limit is 2 (two), if there are more authors, their names can be placed in the end notes, with a description of their participation in the research (in exceptional cases, involving complex studies, a larger number of authors can be indicated, who must have their participation in the research justified on a separate sheet). For essays, reviews, interviews and adaptations of lectures, the number of authors is limited to 1 (one).
- Already published (in print or on-line) papers may be published in exceptional cases as long as they are accompanied with written authorization and signed by the author and the head of the Editorial Board of the journal where the work had been originally published.
- Revista Katálysis publishes papers in Portuguese and Spanish. It also publishes in English and other languages with an accompanying Portuguese version.
- The opinions and concepts presented in the work, as well as the precision, suitability and source of the quotes and references, are the exclusive responsibility of the author(s), and do not necessarily reflect the position of the Editorial Commission.
- Submission of an article to the journal for review implies the acceptance by the author(s) of the norms presented here.
- Revista Katálysis will not remunerate authors who have their papers published in the journal, although the authors will be sent the edition in which their text is published.

Format and preparation of the manuscripts

- According to the instructions below, book reviews must have a maximum of four pages. Other works should have a maximum of 15 pages, including illustrations, graphs, tables, photos and references (if photos of people are used, even if not identified, they must be accompanied by written permission of the people photographed; photos of children or adolescents must be used in accord with the law).
- Word for Windows, should be used with the following format: typeface Times New Roman size 12, paper size A-4, space between lines of 1.5 cm, all margins should be 2.5 cm.
- Figures, tables and clear photos, in high definition, only in black and white, must be sent with the original, with a header (if necessary), credits and caption. If the illustrations sent have been previously published, mention the source and present permission for reproduction.
- The articles presented should be rigorously edited, according to current grammatical norms.
- The work should follow the criteria of the Brazilian Association of Technical Norms (ABNT). During editing they will be adapted to the design and editorial format of Revista Katálysis. For all authors, mainly foreigners, the forms of presenting quotes and references are presented in a separate item below.

To send work, it is necessary to include:

1. A signed letter of submission;

2. A signed declaration of responsibility;
3. A signed transfer of copyright;
4. Registration form for the article;
5. Online file with the article.

NOTE: The first three items must be signed, which may be done digitally. All the items must be sent by e-mail, to the e-mail addresses provided.

Order of presentation

- Title, abstract and keywords in the language of the article.
- Titles may have a maximum of 12 words.
- The abstract, in the third person, must be informative, with about 140 words. It should clearly and synthetically present the objective, methodology, work plan and relevant aspects of the study. It should be accompanied by three to five keywords that are truly descriptive of the focus of the work.

Quotes and references (bibliography)

- Quotes should be used according to NBR-10520, of August 2002, which Revista Katálysis has systematized as follows:
  - The quotes should be indicated in the text by the so-called author-date system.
  - Quotes of up to five lines should be placed within the body of the text, between quotation marks, in the same typeface as the text.
  - Quotes of more than five lines should be separated from the body of the text, in font 11, indented to the paragraph line, without quotation marks (or any other form of highlighting), simple spacing between lines, with the right margin the same as the text.
- Name of the author of the paper, for the two above cases:
  1. in the body of the text (normal letters for proper names). Example: According to Mota (1997, p. 87), “Academic knowledge [...]”;
  2. between parentheses, in uppercase. Example: “Academic knowledge [...]” (MOTA, 1997, p. 87).
- References should be presented according to NBR 6023, of August 2002, in the system author-date – only for documents actually quoted in the work.
- For purposes of systematization of the Journal, use only italics as a typographic resource.
